A SAFE HAVEN WINS PRAISE IN “STREETWISE” ARTICLE FOR RECOVERY SUCCESS

Chicago, March 18, 2004. A Safe Haven, the leading provider of recovery housing in the Midwest, operating Chicagoland area recovery housing programs, was featured yesterday in a Streetwise Magazine article. Also mentioned in the article, A Safe Haven is on the forefront of advocating the grass roots effort to get congressman Danny Davis’s (www.recoveryinillinois.org/id19.html) proposed “Treatment On Demand” referendum on the November ballot.

A Safe Haven’s services are available to people who have completed a program of treatment for recovery from alcohol and drug addiction. Through A Safe Haven’s phased living arrangements, they have achieved great success in aiding the recovery of their residents, many of whom are referred from treatment centers, State and Local Agencies and others.

A Safe Haven provides 24/7 oversight. Such care is ideal for residents who require a little extra attention and need more extensive assistance and compassion in the early stages of their recovery. A program manager visits with the residents and develops an individualized program that addresses their physical, social and environmental needs. Through this plan, A Safe Haven may offer:

- *Help with developing a sobriety plan
- *Coordinating meetings with Clinicians
- *Case Management for DCFS Cases
- *Medical referrals
- *Educational referrals
- *Jobs Training
- *Community Based Volunteerism
- *Life Skills Training, etc.
- *Mandatory Accountability

For thousands of Americans who face the challenge of drug and alcohol dependence, a recovery program in a caring, supportive environment quickly becomes the program of choice for those who desire to live a clean and sober lifestyle. For those in recovery, “Housing is Healthcare.” A Safe Haven has developed a reputation for offering professional services and managers. A Safe Haven offers a program based upon an individual-centered care philosophy and which is guided by principles of proven recovery methodologies. Individuals who need help in their recovery programs and need to live in a community-based program to reduce the chance of relapse can find such an environment at A Safe Haven location. A Safe Haven expects continued success from their common sense approach to supporting recovery from the illness of drug and alcohol dependence.

In addition to the greater Chicago area, A Safe Haven operates in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Indianapolis, Indiana.
